FIRST ALBACORE OF THE SEASON SPOTTED!

The long-range sportfisher Polaris Supreme, while on an extended trip to Hurricane Bank, encountered several schools of good-sized albacore. The date was February 13th. They were located at latitude 23 North and longitude 114 West. Later reports from boats returning from long-range fishing indicated more albacore and some blue fin tuna were also encountered. Sign up now for club trips. (see page 8 for listings).

The Longest Long-Range Trip

by Eric Rogger

A rare, rainy morning, February 11th greeted us at Fisherman's Landing in San Diego for a long awaited Clipperton Trip. The Revillagigedo Islands closures, our presumed destination a year ago, resulted in this new destination as an alternative to find the cow tunas we'd become accustomed to. The blustery and rough ride for the next four days gave us time to tune and tinker with our gear and hear the usual seminars intended to indoctrinate and refresh our techniques. The trip was pleasantly interrupted on February 13th by several albacore stops—among the first of the season. The sixty-or-so albies caught were healthy in the 20- to 35-lb . class. The twelve long rangers on board were to learn that conditions at Clipperton Atoll were not too promising and The Supreme would now stop at Hurricane Bank. We had been preceded there by the Royal Polaris but they were gone to greener pastures (?) as we arrived after out long haul. Four days of

PETE HAYNES GUEST SPEAKER FOR 3/31 DINNER

The guest speaker for the March meeting will be Pete Haynes. This is a MUST program for all LARRC members and their guests. Pete Haynes is a dynamic speaker. He will enlighten us on the use of fluorocarbon, Spectra, monofilament and knots, including most importantly, connections between dissimilar lines. Also Pete will bring samples of Shimano, Power Pro Spectra and Owner hooks for raffle prizes. Pete Haynes grew up in Malibu and spent his youth on the Malibu Pier. He pinheaded for Jack Ward on the Lembroke and later worked as a deckhand on other boats. Subsequent to several years in college and a stint in the service, Pete obtained his 100-ton license and captained the Lembroke. Later he joined the LAPD and spent 25 years on the force, retiring in 1989. Upon retirement from LAPD Pete commenced working for Izorline and was involved with Russ Izor in the development of Spectra. His fishing

Notes Unity Effort to Resolve Recreational Saltwater Problems at Florida Meet

Eighty representatives of the saltwater fishing and boating community met at St.Pete's Beach, Florida, Feb.24-25 with government officials to lay the groundwork for collaborative approaches to marine policy making. Co-sponsored by Boat US, Coastal Conservation Assn, International Game Fish Assn., and Recreational Fishing Alliance. Important to the recreational fishing public among issues covered were catch allocations, recreational vs. commercial, representation on the eight regional fisheries management councils and the role of marine protected areas.

Since MPA's are currently at the head of our local agenda (California) a common sense approach to these was urged. Joel Greenberg, an LARRC member and co-chair of the newly formed So.Cal. RFA Chapter, attended along with members from National RFA. In the spirit of conservation, creation of clearer definitions and specific science-based guidelines for the MPA's was urged. These should include public involvement, conservation goals, provisions for enforcement and evaluation criteria. Joel reports that our local MPA issue is very much on the mind of people across the country and that other marine protective areas are not as restrictive as those proposed by local authorities. ■

trolling near a bank which is approximately 1/2 mile by a 1 mile showed only a nice wahoo bite but no other significant withdrawals were made.

The tuna were quite scarce and only about 11 were caught during this part of the trip. These were in the 40- to 135-lb. category. LARRC member Jan Howard provided us with a technique not familiar to many of us old timers. She'd brought a supply of balloons which were suspended by a leader which trailed a sardine bait at just or below the surface. The wind would carry the balloon away from the stern fairly rapidly so as to get the bait away from the boat. This allowed her to boat three of the larger fish. This Chum Line is being prepared prior to the return of the boat so we can't give you the weights. Some of us had the chance to fish the kite but without too much success. Lots of time spent in catching junk fish to be converted to chunk. Bait fishing for trigger fish and squid also occupied some of the anglers. Night fishing for small black skipjack which would have been ideal bait for some real cows had we located them. About 120 wahoo were taken with an average of ten per angler.

Meantime Capt. Tommy Rothery had many contacts with the Excel and the Royal to determine their success east of us at the Tres Marias and Cleophas Bank.

A mixed blessing as well. So we left Hurricane Bank for that area. To those not familiar with the territory we spent almost three days sailing easterly. The Tres Marias—a group of three islands—are located not too far from Puerto Vallarta. The resort is home to many local fishing boats also competing for the resource. The weather was perfect and schools of birds and dolphins abundant. The effort was to locate the tuna under the dolphins, an effort made difficult by their rapid movements. We were not always able to pursue the schools since the islands are off limits within 12 miles of their shore. Nevertheless, diligent hunting resulted in a total of 34 tuna near Cleophas. Some of the guys tried night fishing for grouper and pargo. with a few of each caught.

After three, mostly frustrating, days in this area we left to fish some of the banks on the Ridge. Another 18-hr. run and we arrive at Jaime Bank. No withdrawals made here. Green, 72-degree water. Left by noon to locate Golden Gate Bank. A couple of hours and we check out Finger Bank where in the evening we were able to put on lots of small mackerel bait via our trusty handy, dandy bait lines. The following morning we are at Morgan Bank and again no signs of fish. You get the idea! Then the marlin moved in on our baits for a couple of hours...I got one on the kite using a flying fish frozen from a prior trip.

At two o'clock we left for Cabo San Lucas and the flight home. What happened? The skipper thanked us for not complaining about the scratchy fishing. We all thanked him for trying so diligently and not sparing the fuel consumption in his search. Was it too much bait in the water? Was it the moon phase? Was it over fishing? People smarter than I will have to come up with the answers. 126 wahoo were caught at Hurricane plus some 11 tunas.

On a positive note, both albacore and blue fin were located about half way up the peninsula. Don't miss out on these during the coming summer season! ■ experiences include over 30 trips to the Revillagigedos and many tunas over 200 lbs. He left Izorline after 12 years and now represents Shimano, Power Pro Spectra, and Owner Hooks.

FISHES TO NOTE:

Fishing out of Puerto Vallarta, last June, Bryan Richter of Texas caught a 333 lb. yellowfin from a 24-ft. panga. He and his brothers used 80lb. stand-up gear. The fish "woke" up after being boated and wrecked the panga.

Sport Fishing 2/003

Meantime Joseph Crosby of Anaheim landed a 355.2-lb. yellowfin after a 3.5-hr. fight with friend Gary Conoway to help. The monster was caught off the East Cape. Tackle used was a 80-lb. Ande topshot with a 200-lb leader tied to 6/0 Penn reel filled with 80-lb spectra.

March Humor

This little story came to Chum Line by way of a friend—Michael Jonas. Although Michael does not fish, we thank him for this submission.

A timeless lesson on how consultants can make a difference for an organization.

Last week, we took some friends out to a new restaurant, and noticed that the waiter who took our order carried a spoon in his shirt pocket. It seemed a bit strange, but I ignored it. However, when the busboy brought our water and utensils, I noticed he also had a spoon in his shirt pocket, then I looked around the room and saw that all the staff had spoons in their pockets. When the waiter came back to serve our soup I asked, "Why the spoon?"

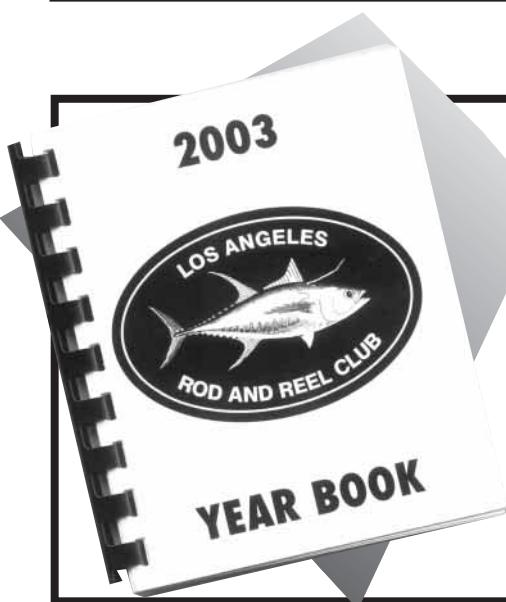

"Well" he explained, "the restaurant owners hired RPI Consulting, the efficiency experts, in order to revamp all our processes. After several months of statistical analysis, they concluded that the spoon was the most frequently dropped utensil. This represents a drop frequency of approximately 3 spoons per table per hour. If our personnel are prepared to deal with that contingency, we can reduce the number of trips back to the kitchen and save 15 man hours per shift." As luck would have it I dropped my spoon and he was able to replace it with his spare.

"I'll get another spoon the next time I go to the kitchen instead of making an extra trip to get it right now". I was rather impressed.

I noticed that there was a very thin string hanging out of the waiter's fly. Looking around, I noticed all of the waiters had the same string hanging from their flies. My curiosity got the better of me and before he walked off, I asked the waiter, "Excuse me, but can you tell me why you have that string right there?" "Oh certainly, he answered lowering his voice. "Not everyone is as observant as you. That consulting firm RPI, which I mentioned also found out that we can save time in the restroom". "How so?"

"See," he continued" by tying this string to the tip of you know what, we can pull it out over the urinal without touching it and that way eliminate the need to wash the hands, shortening the time spent in the restroom by 76.39 percent." "I see." I said. "But after you get it out, how do you—put it back?"

"Well," he whispered, lowering his voice even further, "I don't know about the others but I use the spoon."

THAT OTHER LAWSUIT (RFA No.Cal.)

LARRC membership is certainly aware of the threatened Channel Islands closures—currently being reviewed at various jurisdictions—members are certainly familiar with the alliance of both commercial and recreational organizations which have filed suit to obtain a restraining order against this closure.

Now we report on another suit filed, against the California Department of Fish and Game Commission and the Department of Fish & Game. Filed in January of this year by a rather large group, Coastside Fishing Club, (2700 members) located on the central coast of California. Coastside challenges the regulations imposed as of January 3rd through July of 2003, which close nearshore rockfish fisheries to the recreational community. The new regulations assume a depletion of rock fish stocks. Yet no documentation of this could be found nor studies located. The regulations allow commercial fishermen to continue to take rockfish.

There are other grounds for the suit and the plaintiff has also mentioned the political influence by commercial interests sitting on the Pacific Coast Fisheries Management Council. Stayed tuned for more in future months. ■

Annual Foundation Auction/Award Dinner Another Success!!

By Randolph Sharon Foundation Chair

I am happy to report that thanks to the efforts of the many donors, helpers and participants, the Foundation raised $15,467, which surpassed last year's record by about $2000. We had many donations, including fishing related items, jewelry and other items for the ladies, as well as gifts for the children and family. This year, we were able to use many of the ideas established by last year's auction. I already have new ideas to help improve the auction for the next year.

Many persons deserve thanks for their involvement in the auction, and on behalf of the foundation. I thank you all. Last year, Norman Weinstock was in charge of the auction, and in my opinion he set a new standard by which future auctions are judged. I wish to thank Norman for all of his guidance, and his willingness to help out in any way asked of him. I also wish to give a very special thank you to the following persons: Connie & Larry Dinovitz, Arnie Cohen, Gladys and Royal MacNair for helping to arrange for the many donations to the auction; Larry Brown, Steve and Linda Simon, Michael Godfrey, Paul and Francine Verenchik, Al Spievak and Pamela Warren for all of their help getting ready for the auction and helping out on the critical day; Joel and Tammy Steinman for their help assembling the donations, as well as Joel acting as a great auctioneer.

I also wish to give a big thank you to Steve Simon who was in charge of a parking lot sale held at Bob Sands Tackle Store, and to Michael Godfrey, Joe Mahfet, Will Ebersman, Al Spievak, Seymour Rimland, Paul Verenchik, Dan Fink and Brett Goldberg who assisted Steve on the day of the event. Thanks to their efforts the foundation raised another $1,200. The foundation will use the money raised at the auction and parking lot sale to support our annual underprivileged Kids' Trip, as well at the Mentors' Trip, and other activities to help these kids and the ocean environment.

Our goal at the foundation is not only to raise money, but to use it! Needless to say, the money raised will be used for very worthwhile events. If you have any ideas on how to raise funds or how to use them, please give me or one of the trustees a call. Or better yet, join us at a future foundation meeting. ■

RECREATIONAL FISHING ALLIANCE (RFA)

reports the filing of the Freedom to Fish Act in the California Legislature. Senator Rico Oller (R.San Andreas, CA) introduces bill SB 281 as per an RFA Press Release Received February 27th. The act would prohibit closures to rod and reel fishing unless there is a clear indication that this type of fishing creates specific conservation problems. "This initiative is in response to the radical environmental movement to close off vast areas of our oceans by creating no fishing marine protected areas (MPA's) according to Jim Donofrio, Executive Director of RFA.

Spectacular fishing, great weather and easy, inexpensive travel from Los Angeles to Vancouver Island.

proposed to make this trip a "Club trip" for any members that may be interested. I have spoken to both Larry Dinovitz and Dan Felger about this, and they both feel it is a good idea. As many of your members can attest, the fishing is spectacular, and we now offer first class resort accommodations as well. Another positive for our area is the ease of traveling here, with flights now connecting direct from Seattle to Campbell River here on Vancouver Island. You can see our resort on-line at www.nootkawildernesslodge.com.

I believe Dan Felger will be contacting you, however I would like to have you peruse this brief description and hope it will be helpful.
