Oct. 26 Dinner Featured Speaker is Bill Varney

Bill is the consummate surf fisherman. A fourth generation Californian, he is a surfer, fisherman and steward of the environment. He loves the freedom that surf fishing gives you when on a broad beach without restrictions. He's fished beaches from South America to the Northwest and considers Southern California one of the most productive zones. 6-lb. test is his main line of choice, which along with a selection of artificial and natural baits, account for his success. Bill feels most surfcasters cast out too far bypassing 80% of the fish accessible within 100 feet of shore. Come hear a very interesting talk of a pro with the ultimate experiences.

Our Club Needs Your Help!!

The Los Angeles Rod & Reel Club is your club! That's right, your club! And your club needs your help. With over 50 years of history, the LARRC has experienced many changes over the years, and has evolved as well.

The demographics of our club are changing, and with those changes the needs and wants of club members change as well. At one time the clubs' benefits were clear cut—5-, 7- and 10-day charters were the norm, and you fished with people you knew. This year we had trouble filling our one and only long range charter. Our dinner meetings were always well received, and often to a sell out crowd, yet in the past few years attendance seems to be waning.

This is why the club needs your help, so that we may continue to evolve and serve our members. In that note, I ask for your ideas, suggestions, gripes and support; to develop and guide the Los Angeles Rod and Reel Club and to allow us to grow, and prosper in the years to come.

To get this started, I am submitting some decision needs, that the Board of Directors has discussed at recent meetings, for your consideration.

1. Charters—what types will you participate in? Weekend, Mid-Week, 1-day, 2-day etc.
2. Dinner Meetings—If you do not attend, why not? Location? Venue?, Menu? Be specific....
3. Speakers—What type of speakers do you want? Specify
4. Club events, picnic, awards banquet etc.—What would you like to see? More family oriented events, kids' events? What can we as a club organize that you as a club member would support?
- 5- Members—They are the lifeblood of our club's future, how do we attract new members, without diminishing the prestige of the LARRC?

These are but a few examples that the Board of Directors have discussed at recent meetings. I hope you have ideas as well, and more importantly I hope you will share them with me.

Send your ideas, rants and raves to: member_news@larrc.org

Next month will be about fishing, I promise.

Scott Schiffman

Foundation Trustees Visit Catalina

Reported by Will Ebersman

On Tuesday, September 2nd, your foundation trustees visited the Wrigley Marine Research Facility on Catalina Island. The purpose of this trip was to meet with Dr. Chris Lowe, of Cal State Long Beach, along with some of his students, and see how the Foundation scholarship money was being used.

After a 3-hour trip, we arrived at the facility. The area around the school's facilities is the first Marine Protected area. We were able to drop passengers on the dock, but the boat then had to go anchor on a whisker buoy several hundred feet away. While on the island, we were able to inspect a number of the classrooms. There were rooms set up for all types of marine research and included internet accessible computer labs, one of the best domestic libraries on marine biology and a large lecture hall. As part of the students' training, several rockfish were in the process of being dissected. Students had to be able to identify at least 90 of the 140 bones common to all rockfish.

Students, up to 20 at a time, spend an entire semester on the island. Studying one class at a time for a 4-week period, students lead a rigorous day, starting at 7 am for breakfast, lectures from 8-10 am, 10 am to 12 noon doing research or data entry. 1-5 pm

FOUNDATION NOTICES...

Foundation Still Collecting Tackle

The Foundation is still collecting tackle for the Third Annual Pre-Owned Fishing Tackle Sale at Bob Sands Tackle Emporium. It will take place November 14th at 9 a.m.

The Foundation announces that some fabulous tackle has been donated for the November 14th sale taking place at Sal's located at 6743 Sepulveda Blvd. These include a number of International reels and rods. Those not adequately equipped for their tuna adventures better get over there!

Former club member, Harvey Homer made these generous gifts and the Foundation wishes to acknowledge their value. ■

The Foundation Announces Club Scholarships

In September the LARRC Foundation kicked off the selection process for the 2009 scholarships in marine biology at California State University Long Beach. Dave Levinson and Tom Carlisle (see photo) presented a check for $6000 to Professor Chris Lowe who will again act as faculty advisor. Two graduate scholarships and two undergraduate scholarships will be awarded this year. The graduate winners will be invited to be guest speakers at dinner meetings during 2010. Applications are due Oct. 15 and the trustees will make selections by end of this month. ■ either doing underwater research or classroom study, dinner from 5-6 pm and an additional 2 hours of classroom lecture from 7-9 pm. The day finishes up with an additional assignment of 25-50 pages of material to read and assimilate.

Overall, we were greatly impressed with both the caliber of the instructions and instructors and the dedication of the students. The consensus of the Foundation Board is to continue to support Cal State Long Beach's Marine Biology Program for the future. ■

That Pacific Dawn 1.5-Day Trip, Aug 23rd

Concluding the Season with a Flourish

By Charles Schoemaker

Five Offshore Species were caught on this trip! Three trolling reels were screaming but the Pacific Dawn was not stopping. Captain Pat Cavanaugh was a man on a mission, a mission to find albacore or bluefin tuna. Until the strikes proved to be something other than skipjack he was not about to slow down.

We knew Pat was serious in his quest when we found a kelp patty loaded with dorado. Although the deep blue sea turned green, gold and aquamarine, one quick drift was all we got. Then Pat went on searching for quality fish, not wanting to waste time on anything less than the bluefin he knew were out there somewhere.

Our contingent of 16 had the usual pleasant pre-trip landing dock festivities, good weather, and a nice ride out about 80 miles from San Diego. It took some time to locate the proper temperature break, but once it was located, we were rewarded with a few early morning albacore in the 25-lb. range. Then we set out in earnest.

Going back to our trollers, they gamely put the pressure on the rods, raised the fish and when skipjacks were determined to be on the end of the line, kept reeling while the boat was moving forward. This process was repeated until Captain Pat located a school that he thought was promising. We slid in and were rewarded with our fourth species of the morning, quality bluefin tuna, generally running 35- to 45-lbs. with co-charter master Jim Carlisle handling and landing the trip whopper of over 60 lbs.

After finding the bluefin school, and going through a plunker bite, it was time to move, when another bluefin hit. This process was repeated several times, so that eventually we drifted 3.5 miles before getting bit again and going back to the beginning. Another search was successful in putting some albacore on board, along with a few more bluefin. To round out the day, a few yellowfin tuna were brought on board after Whitney's healthy fish taco lunch.

The bait was sardines, the gear was anything from 25- to 50-lb. test, and at one point a "Gulp Nuclear Chicken" produced an albacore. Most of the day was a plunker bit, but enough plunkers to fill the boat.

Near the end of the day, many of the anglers broke their equipment down early and were relaxing in the galley with a fine beverage of choice when Pat rolled up on another school of bluefin, resulting in another hour of action for those who had not yet had their fill. Dinner was a delicious bluefin donated by co-charter person, Jan Howard.

We ended the day with limits of albacore, 5 yellowfin tuna, and 30 bluefin tuna, along with innumerable skipjack. Five species of fish for the boat on another spectacular Pacific Dawn charter. ■

Recipe for a Successful 6-pack Trip

Fish Report by Nick Ekdahl

Our scheduled 1.5-day Limitless trip got accelerated when Capt. Tom Patierno suggested we depart earlier than the original departure time of 8:00 pm. The date was 8/07/09 and he wanted more time to make squid at San Clemente. Aboard were club members Bob Siegel, Bruce Powell, Rob Masters as well as my dad and brother Kris Ekdahl. (Kris and Bruce are newly minted LARRC members.)

As soon as we left Newport Harbor and got into the channel it became apparent that we were in for a rough ride. Even rigging our gear became a challenge. Crystal Cove at San Clemente gave us some relief and allowed for a bit of shut-eye. Second tickets Jeff and Corey were busy crowding squid and got enough to give us a shot at the morning yellowtail bite.

It was 5:30 a.m. and the first bites on squid were barracuda and a leopard shark but we noted that anglers on the nearby Amigo and also the Fury enjoying bent rods signifying yellowtail bites. There was no mistaking yellowtail bites, they bent the rods violently and you had to hang on. Trips around the boat were not unusual and my arms were sore after two of these fish. By 8 a.m. the bite had shut off and we had boat-ed a total of 11 yellowtail all in the 30-lb. range! My dad Carl was breaking in his 50th wedding anniversary gift, a gold Avet MX with cast control loaded with 30-lb. mono. Bruce got his first yellowtail ever!

A halibut drift was next and we wound up next to a kelp line and tried for calicos. A few were landed with a nice 5-lb. fish going to Rob. Bonito on fly-lined sardines were fun on light tackle.

Our plan had been to go to Cortez Bank but the weather shut off that move. Instead our next target was to head southwest and try the kelp paddies for dorado and yellowtail. We came across a pod of pilot whales and watching them breach was spectacular. Signs of sea life kept increasing but none of the paddies we trolled by were holding fish. We also encountered a large pod of spinner dolphins which made us more optimistic. More time passed after that and we settled into the classic jig strike waiting game.

Then we had a jig strike! It was a bluefin tuna, one on a jig—a lucky cedar plug—and one on bait. Every one came to life. This was the pattern for the rest of the day: a long period of waiting and then a flurry of activity while the jig fish was brought in and everyone fly-lined a sardine. Unfortunately, they kept sinking out on us. The last jig strike of the day was a large lone albacore. All had been able to pull on a tuna so our choice of targets was a gamble that paid off.

Heading home was a challenge due to the weather, we celebrated with solidly secured glasses of wine and arrived back at the dock at 6:00 on Saturday. Despite the beating we took due to the weather all agreed that we had a successful trip. ■

BELOW: Three Happy Heroes

Score Another Win for the Pacific Dawn

By Ross Lombard

Our Club had another tuna trip aboard the Pacific Dawn over the weekend (9-7/8). Thanks to a flurry of last minute cancellations, our limited load of 16 became an ultra-limited load of 11. The Ekdahl boys (Nick Kris and Carl) Kevin & Adam Jusilla, Bob Siegel & Zarik, Ross Lombard, Mike Goodman, Jay Statman and Hank Kalin braved the calm seas and 70-degree temperatures to battle angry tuna.

Our first stop was 63 miles offshore where Capt. Pat Cavanaugh anchored over a reef. We fly lined large sardines and caught 20 or so bluefin in the 15-lb range and one stray yellowfin. The fishing was scratchy but consistent.

After the bite died off, the plan was to troll past a few kelp patties where dorado and a few albacore were thought to be holed up. Our past pass netted a nice bull reeled up by Nick. On the second patty, we encountered a large pod of dolphin. Capt Pat changed the tactics and we chased them down.

The result was complete mayhem. All four troll rods went off simultaneously. While those were being manned, the remaining fishermen threw baits. Nearly all were bit right away. We had at least 10 hookups going at the same time! Everyone worked well together and there were very few tangles. The crew did a great job of traffic control and gaffing all the fish. The madness lasted less than 20 minutes but made this trip memorable. We chased the dolphin pod for the remainder of the day. We would pick a few fish here and there, but nothing close to that first stop. At 7:30pm we called it quits and settled in for dinner. We were treated to salad, steamed zucchini, rice pilaf and roasted tri-tip. It was a great finish to a wonderful day of fishing.

Thanks to Pat, Opie, Jordan and Mike for crewing this trip. They kept us on the fish and made sure we landed what we hooked. And a special mention to Whitney who has become an excellent galley chef. She turned out some tasty dishes and had us asking for seconds.

Totals: 30 BFT, 38 YFT and 1 Dorado. About 12 skipjack came over the rail. ■

MLPA UPDATE

Nearing completion, the South Coast Regional MLPA process is now in its final— for our area—deliberations. Joel Greenberg, a club member and regional recreational stakeholder rep, reports:

The stakeholder groups have been notified that the round three MPA proposals have now been finalized. You can read these on-line by going to <http://www.dfg.ca.gov/mlpa/scrsg-dprops-r3.asp> For each of the proposals the DFG has posted, PFD maps, description of the MPA's, basic habitat calculations, consideration of existing MPA documents, rationale and supplemental material the groups developed.

The three proposals are being made available to the public in Marine Map <http://www.marinemap.org/marinemap/> Proposals may be found in the MPAs Arrays and Proposals Box under "Public Proposals"

There will be opportunities for public input at the next Blue Ribbon Task Force (BRFT) Mtg dealing with the MLPA South Coast Project. This will be at:

Hilton Long Beach Exec Ctr.
